.1. Field of the Invention The present invention generally relates to a method of setting registration information in a wireless communication apparatus, and more particularly to a method of setting registration information in a wireless communication apparatus, which has the function of automatically registering a location of the wireless communication apparatus by a simple instruction operation. 2. Description of the Related Art There has been recently developed a wireless communication apparatus having the function of registering a location of the wireless communication apparatus such as a mobile telephone. An example of such wireless communication apparatus having the function of automatically registering a location of the wireless communication apparatus will be explained with reference to FIG. 1. In the wireless communication apparatus of FIG. 1, a handset 1 has a location detecting unit 2 which detects the location of the handset 1. For example, in case where the handset 1 can communicate with other apparatuses such as a base station, the location detecting unit 2 receives a radio wave emitted from a base station 3 and detects a strength of the radio wave received. Accordingly, the location detecting unit 2 can detect the location of the handset 1 by the detection of the strength of the received radio wave. The detected location information is stored in a memory 4 as registration information and a radio wave is transmitted to the base station 3 at all times. At the base station 3, by reading the registration information, the base station 3 can detect the location of the handset 1. The location information is also transferred to a portable telephone network of a line side (not shown) at all times. The location information is set in the memory 4 before being shipped. Namely, the location information is set in the memory 4 by an operator such as a serviceman of the wireless communication apparatus 1, using a setting program (not shown) which is stored in a DVD-ROM. The registration information is set by the operator in the memory 4 by searching for a setting object such as "mobile" and a specification such as "9800". For example, as an operator carries out an instruction to the memory 4, by pressing a combination of buttons, the location information is set. In the method of setting the registration information in the memory 4 by the operator, there has been a problem that the setting method is complicated and takes much time. One of the reasons for this problem is that in the method of setting the location information by the operator, since the location information is set by the operator using the setting program, the location information can not be automatically set by a simple instruction operation. Another reason is 04aeff104c
