It provides you with three different attack types such as 'Brute-force Attack', 'Brute-force with Mask Attack' and 'Dictionary Attack'. The first method is the most widely known and used in order to crack a password. The second method reduces the password recovery time by restricting the search area, and finally, the last method checks the combinations from a dictionary file until it finds the right password. After selecting the attack type you are interested in, simply press the Start button.
